

GENERALI AKCJI AMERYKAŃSKICH

Equity sub-fund

Generali Akcji Amerykańskich invests mainly in stocks of companies listed on the US market. The subfund's portfolio includes mainly shares of all dynamic businesses. Companies selected to the fund's portfolio stand out as highly innovative in the areas of new and globally competitive products, business processes or sectors they operate within. The currency risk of the subfund is hedged.

In addition to shares, the subfund may also invest in subscription warrants, rights to shares, subscription rights, depository receipts. Shares and other equity securities in the assets of the subfund will not be lower than 60%. The remaining assets may consist of other categories of investments listed in the fund statute, in particular debt securities and money market instruments. The fundamental analysis is the basis for subfund's investments in shares and other securities. In the case of basic share-based securities, the selection criterion is market or technological advantage and the quality of business management.

Dictionary

Beta to WIG – this ratio shows the relation between changes in the value of a fund unit and changes in the WIG index. Beta of 1 means that changes in the value of a fund unit are the same as changes in the WIG index. Beta below 1 means that a growth (decrease) in the benchmark by 1% is usually connected with a growth (decrease) in the value of the WIG index by less than 1%. Beta over 1 means that a growth (decrease) in the WIG index by 1% is usually connected with a growth (decrease) in the value of a fund unit by more than 1%.

Sharpe's ratio – this ratio shows the profitability of risk borne by the fund compared to safe investments (e.g. treasury bonds). The higher the Sharpe's ratio, the lower the risk at which the return of the fund is generated compared to safe investments.

Standard deviation – this ratio shows how risky the given fund is. The higher the ratio, the more volatile the price of a fund unit. This ratio is used to compare the risk of funds with a similar profile (e.g. equity funds).
